Sarah Iscariot? Errant E-mails Expose Evil Enterprise

Posted about 4 hours ago | 0 comment

WJJ Hoge III, Patrick Grady and George M. Howell can thank their friend "Sarah A" aka "Ashterah" aka "Dread Pirate Zombie Morgana" who apparently thought she was sharing messages with Mr. Howell. She was not. The e-mail address she used to respond to a note from Howell yesterday was actually my e-mail, TheReluctantHuman@gmail.com.

And OH! The information she revealed.

It is not necessary for our purposes to further identify Sarah, other to say that she's a woman looking for love.

Let them know you want to see them!

In her own words

"I'm 45 years old and starting life anew. I have eclectic interests, read more than I probably ought to and want to see more of the world. I'm looking for someone with common interests who wants to share their life with me and have some fun. If it leads to more, then even better! In the end, I just want to be with someone who wants to be with me."

This morning on arising and after tending to Gall, I opened my e-mail and saw this.

Hi General

This morning on arising and after tending to Gail, I opened my e-mail and saw this.

Hi, George!

It's Ashterah/Morgana/Morticia. Or just call me Ash. lol That would be short and to the point. Anyway, dropping you a line as you requested. I probably won't get back to this until tomorrow. I just want to abide by any conditions you have on anything. Something is percolating in my brain for a post, but I don't want to draw anyone into this any more than they want to be.

Thanks!

Ash

Being early in the morning, the full significance of this didn't hit me until a bit later. Here was this lickspittle, this insider in the Hoge/Krendler circle who thought she was writing to George M. Howell. So, rather than pull the plug, I continued the conversation.

Hi, Ash.

Drop me a line whenever you get a moment and tell me your idea.

Which she did.

Re: Mail from Schmalfeldt

Actually I just recieved my own extortionate email from the blob. I'm going to be taking a very personal tact now. Lol

Sent by Outlook for Android

Ah. An extortionate e-mail. She was talking about my response to a post on Billy Sez demanding an apology for suggesting that the little zombie princess sounded like someone who had a "naughty daddy." Well, this would naturally make George Howell curious.

Hi there, Morgana. Or Morticia. Or Ashterah, or Ash, or "Sarah A" — it all gets so confusing, so please advise me as to how you wish to be addressed.

That's what makes using one's own name so simple — you don't have to remember which character you're playing at any particular moment. I'm always just "Bill."

I'm assuming Patrick Grady is defending your honor. Good on him. And if you were not the stinky skank in the courtroom (which I know you were not since your Match.com profile describes you as "blonde" and "curvy"), then I apologize for that as well. When one's adversaries are not brave enough to use their real names when attacking, then it's easy to get all the players jumbled up... especially since a lot of the various players tend to turn out to be the same person.

I know who you are, Sarah, but I don't wish you any harm. You have been a mild annoyance, a follower led by a leader who will be going down in flames very shortly. (And if you want to advise George or Pat or John to call their local constabularies and ask whether or not arrest warrants in their names are outstanding, you should feel free to do that.)

What I wrote was not slanderous. What I wrote was mild and G-rated compared to some of the filth you and yours have thrown at me. Pictures of Gail as a decomposing corpse? Really? Can't we even let the poor woman die before we mock her death. She's in home hospice now, drifting in and out of this world. But if you were, in fact, abused by a "naughty daddy", it would explain a lot of the hate you have. Someone very close to me in the generation before mine was touched by a "naughty daddy", a fact that wasn't revealed for decades and then required years of therapy to get past.

Now, if you were offended by my question about your "daddy," then please excuse me. I may have asked that on the same day as your evil leader made a remark about my wife's impending death. Things like that make me angry. And when I get angry, sometimes I visit a court commissioner and get arrest warrants sworn out.

Sometimes.

Now, is this the e-mail address you prefer I use to contact you, Sarah? Or do you prefer scotchdashaw@outlook.com. Do you have another e-mail I can use? And is your name really Sarah Ashleigh? Don't worry about being doxxed. You have my word as long as you behave yourself and answer my questions with respect.

Mr. Hoge, Mr. Grady and Mr. Howell are facing serious charges for the "forged letter" incident. Three felonies, one of which has a two year minimum sentence. Four misdemeanors. No, the charges are not on Maryland Judiciary Case Search. They don't publish outstanding warrants until they are served.

Now, as to whether or not you can publish this e-mail. You may write, "Mr. Schmalfeldt responded to the post, was polite, and apologized for suggesting that one of my personalities may have been sexually abused as a child." Anything more than that would be taken as a direct insult and will be dealt with in ways I will leave to your vivid imagination.

So, then, Sarah, I hope this answers any issues you may have. I might suggest you open a direct dialogue with me. You will find me to be polite when dealt with politely. If you are civil, civility will be your reward. Filth will be met with filth.

Consider your options, and thank you.

Bill

OK, Sarah is pissed. Time to work her for some information.

Is there anyone else you want to send this to? I don't see anything other than just the blob being a snarky asshole. Should I forward a copy of this to PG? I will leave that up to you.

I didn't want to come right out and say "Patrick Grady" as I didn't want to scare her off. But she wasn't scared. She was talking to her friend, George Howell.

Well, I decided to call. The Montgomery County Sheriffs Office said not at this time, but maybe tomorrow. Then they started asking questions, so I just hung up. I wonder if that was a mistake. I wish I hadn't agreed to mail that letter for Patrick. It seemed like an innocent prank at the time, but now I'm wondering if I'm going to get in serious trouble about it.

Speaking of that, I love John. But if the blob really has taken out warrants do you think Mr. Hoge will take responsibility for his part in all of this? Patrick told me that he did the letter as a favor for Hoge because Hoge asked him to. Do you think he would leave me and Patrick hanging?

I don't mean to sound all weak-kneed or anything like that, but I've had more than enough trouble with Maryland courts already, liens, lawsuits, contempt, suspended license, and new trouble I really do not need.

You don't sound that way at all. I, too, am worn out by the court system, although in California. My daughter was accused of shaking my grandson. I've been through more than a year of hell with them. And now I'm at the end of a year of hell with my soon-to-be ex-husband. And we haven't even started with the court that will be necessary there. I fight Bill because he is evil, but I have no interest in being involved in our "justice" system. I will if I have to, but I would prefer not.
